

Parker Helps Produce Spooktacular Effects

See us on the Travel Channel's "Making Monsters" on Sunday, October 21.

Scary skeletons. Monstrous masks. Bloodthirsty bats. They're all part of the haunt industry, which creates decorations and props for haunted houses and other creepy-themed attractions around the world. One of Parker's customers not only specializes in this market, but they've got their own reality show on the Travel Channel. "Making Monsters" showcases the chilling talents of Colorado-based Distortions Unlimited, and we'll be giving them some hands-on assistance for an episode this Sunday, October 21.

Join Parker product experts Aaron Wilson and John Lin as they help Distortions Unlimited use our ACR9000 controller technology to create frightfully realistic animatronics that are to die for.

Check it out on Sunday, October 21, at 8:00 p.m. ET/PT, on the Travel Channel.

www.parkermotion.com